A Studio education is from the inside out

The Studio School is a pioneer in establishing an education that is transformative. Central to our philosophy is the belief that intellectual vigor and creativity must be firmly rooted in emotional balance and resilience.

Innovators for 47 years, we incorporate the most current research on the mind, with our extensive experience on how children learn, into the Studio School Approach®.

Teachers work in an intentional way with the individual and the group, separately and together, as a tool for learning. Students learn to explore who they are, their role as a member of a group, and the power of the group as a whole.

This approach cultivates inquisitive, confident, and self-evaluative students, who thrive and meet the challenges of an always evolving, interconnected world.

A Studio education empowers students to integrate who they are with what they learn, fostering independent thinkers who achieve high academic success.

Our graduates have an intellectual passion and exceptional understanding of interpersonal dynamics, and are sought after by excellent private and public high schools and colleges. Accomplished award-winners and leaders, they are purposeful and self-motivated, and far exceed the standards set for them.
